

English Part

This person who died was my nephew Logan. Logan was almost 5 months when he passed on November 27, 2013. He was such a good baby and was always sleep. Before he passed he was starting to walk and was almost at talking . He barely cried and he was my little "Chunky Monkey" . He was my nephew, so he the world to me just like his brother and his cousins. I created this skull in remembrance of him because, he was the first person that had a bond with and only person i know who passed away

This doesn't really reflect him because he was just a baby but i guess because he barely cried, and he was always happy. Well it hasn't really opened my mind up, because I always had a good energy about what happened. I just think at as he is in a better place and he was here to delay a message for people of the family (mainly his parents).

He was such a bundle of joy, every time you walked into the room he just the the energy in the room. So I made both my skull and mask in remembrance of him. The skull is the one i'm going to present to the class. I want to present my skull because it one signature thing I put on the skull to represent my nephew, which was the green and white wing on the back of the skull. I put the wings on the skull because on his obituary is a picture of him with wing behind as an angle. Also I choose to do the wings because my brother (his father) and his mother both got tattoos of his name with wing behind it.
