

What is your name and age?

- My name is David Wilson and am 15 years old

What is your first memory?

- The first memory I recall having is of when I was 3 and me and my family were riding pass a creek filled with crocodiles in Florida. It was with my parents, cousins, and my brother and cousin were off of their bikes, standing by the waters edge, and my mother kept telling them to get away from it before any crocodiles came up from the creek.

What is your favorite memory?

- My favorite memory was when I was 6, and a birthday party was thrown for me. All of my family from my father's side there, including my aunts and uncles, brother and sister, and cousins were there. For some reason, I remember the atmosphere to be golden, as if the light outside was golden too.

Where are there friends besides family there?

- I don't remember friends of mine being there, if I had any, and I didn't see any of my father or mother's friends there either.

Do you remember if you had friends in general at that age? Or were you an introvert without many friends?

- I don't remember having any close friends then, but I did.

Define what you consider a close friend.

- A close friend is someone who you can share close ideas and personal values with. They are someone who you can rely on when in need of help in dire or trivial times, and usually will request the same from you.

Do you have any close friends at SLA? If so what is it that makes you consider them a close friend?

- I have a few close friends. I consider them as close friends because they share stuff with me, are often open and casual with me, help me, treat me well, and I am able to do the same with or for them.

Could you talk about one specifically?

- One close friend that I have is uh..you.

What is that I do that makes you consider me as a close friend of yours?

- For one, you have always been helpful whenever I've had a problem in doing something that has required your assistance, and we both share our views on many, various topics. At some point in time, I'm sure that you've told me something about yourself that you wouldn't share with others, and we behave casually together daily.
