

IDENTITY

WHO ARE YOU??

The message that we want to share is that finding yourself is a hard thing to do especially when our a teenager.

We just want you to know that everyone is unique and being exactly like someone else is not a great thing to do. There is no need for two of the same people unless they are twins.

BUT FOR NOW,

We would like to spread the message that you were made the way you are for a reason.

We would like to share a story of a girl and how she handled her situations of trying to be different people.

BE YOUR SELF
