Project one: Color Wheel

- My first project this year was a color wheel
- My color wheel was a standard color wheel, but with the twist of Atlas holding the color wheel like the world
- I don't have an image of my color wheel, I don't know where it is
- I put Atlas on my color wheel because I love Greek and Latin mythology

Project Two: The Flash

- My second project was a drawing of one of my two favorite superheroes, The Flash
- I looked at multiple pictures and visual representations of the flash online in order to draw him
- My love for DC comics stems from being brought up on them with my uncles
- My uncles always watched DC movies and cartoons and they also read the comics

Project Three: The 3d Batarang

- My third project was a batarang that I made using computer software and the 3d printer
- Batman is my other favorite superhero
- I have been watching dc movies and cartoons and reading the comics since I was a child

Project two and three visual component.

Artistic growth

This year I was really able to take advantage of my artistic ability and I was able to draw a figure. I actually drew Batman, Atlas and the Flash. I was also able to make art with the 3d printer and the laser cutter. I made batarangs using both of them .

Reflection questions

What have you learned about making art? I have learned that making art is a process that takes time and patience. You don't always get everything right on the first time, it's pretty much like trial and error.

What have you learned about yourself through the projects you have created? I have learned that I have a great artistic ability hidden inside of me and I have learned to take advantage of it

Most proud project

The project that I am the most proud of is my drawing of Flash because The Flash is one of my two favorite superheroes. I enjoy DC and Marvel comics, although DC comics are my favorite. I enjoy reading them, watching the movies, the tv shows and playing the games.

Biggest strength

My biggest strength is the ability to comprehend and utilize the skills that are being taught during art class. I believe that being able to comprehend what you are being taught helps you to utilize those skills and complete your project

Next art project

I want to continue to draw people and superheroes. I enjoy drawing things and making use of my art skills. I feel like I also want to explore making and designing my own clothes in the future.

What kind of Art inspires me?

The kind of art that inspires me is people drawing superheroes and other things on paper or on canvas. Every since I was little, I have grown to like superheroes even more. It started from my uncles, they always watched superhero movies and read comics.
