

Abstract

When I went to Beeber Middle school I was apart of this program that was called Peer Mediation. My experience with peer mediation was a good way for me to get to understand different ways for people to be able to handle disputes between each other. Also to help out each other without getting the adults involved because they usually doesn't end well for the student. This was actually the best experience I could have had because it allowed me to interact with my peers in a different way. Not only did I get a chance to help people and look and myself helping my peers. In addition, to this if you were in peer Mediation for all four years you would get some type of free tuition for college. I would love to have a program like that for our school. But I don't expect to get the proper funding for a program like this. However I did still end having something similar to the program that I was apart of all of those years ago. Where student help students solve their problems. They do so while improving the SLA@beeberr community and helping their peers stay in school. But I wish to have some sort of legacy to outlive my time here at SLA@BeeBer and I feel like this could do it.

Citations

Johnson, Roger T. "Sign In: Registered Users." Conflict Resolution and Peer Mediation Programs in Elementary and Secondary Schools: A Review of the Research - Jun 30, 2016. N.p., 1 Dec. 1996. Web. 07 Feb. 2017.

Johnson, David W. "Teaching Students to Be Peer Mediators." Educational Leadership: Building a Community for Learning: Teaching Students to Be Peer Mediators. N.p., Sept. 1992. Web. 07 Feb. 2017.

"Mock Peer Mediation Session." YouTube. N.p., 09 Dec. 2014. Web. 05 June 2017.

"MEDIATOR MENTORS - Mediation Training." YouTube. N.p., 10 Feb. 2012. Web. 05 June 2017.