Como tu conocer ser vs estar?

NO!

Subjects for Estar:

- Location of a person, place or thing. (Being at a playground or someones home.)
- The Conditions of people or things. (Being sick or having pimples)
- Impressions or people. (Your opinion about the people based on your thinking.)

The subjects for Ser:

- The origins for a person, place or thing. (Where you were born)
- Identifying someone(Nationality, Race)
- Identifying Characteristics (Height, weight, etc)
- Telling the time and the date(Today's date)
- Telling the time and place of event (Birthday party and where and when to be there)
- Using the preposition “de”. (The materials you have and own)

Comparing the two: Conditions & Characteristics

- Conditions: This mostly means things that affect you but will eventually go away. For example having pimples or being nervous about a test. You will have these feelings for only a period of time compared to a characteristic.
- Examples
 - Estoy raro y loco
 - Gregorio y Juan están lento corredors.
- Characteristics: This is something that describes you but you will mostly likely not lose it. For example if you are tall you can't shorter. To me a characteristic is something you get from your parent like blue eyes are being fat.
- Examples:
 - Mi madre es alta y fea
 - Juan y Maya son sucio

Comparing the two: Location & Origin

- Location: Location is where you are located at at this current moment. Being at a party or even someone's house. You can be anywhere with location because it can be a various amount of places. This can also deal with items not just people.
- Examples:
 - Estoy en mi madre feista
 - Mi padre
- Origin: This means is where you are from originally. Meaning where you were born.
- Examples:
 - Yo soy desde filadelfia!
 - Juan y Gregorio somos mexicanos.
